

ABSTRACT

Disclosed is a method for improving a cruise control system of a vehicle, a system reaction of an electronic brake control system of the vehicle to a brake pressure requirement of the cruise control occurs at a relatively slow rate.